Salamoaleikum Dear Dr. Azam,

I am writing you from Switzerland, Volketswil, I reverted to Islam in 2008 in Pakistan, Sialkot and I am originally from Hungary. In the first years after becoming a Muslim, sadly I was not always as active as I should have been to learn more about Islam, but in the recent months since joining the local mosque and also starting to learn Arabic I became more and more interested and active as a Muslim. At my work and also privately I meet many non-muslim brothers and sisters from all countries, speaking English, German and Hungarian, the 3 languages which I can speak for now. Islam comes up frequently in our conversations and many times I want to give them the correct answers, but I lack the proper material/sources. So if it would be possible, I would like to request such materials about Islam and also Quran if possible then in those languages, so I can share the knowledge with them, so they have an authentic source of information which is more reliable than anything I can tell them. Is it possible? My sister-in-law lives in Morocco and I have heard from my wife that she has requested such help, I am not sure if through your organisation or not, but she lives in Fez and is Mashallah a very humble and virtuous Muslimah and has visitors sometimes and she also wants to share the knowledge with them in a language which they also understand. She was Alhamdulillah aided with books and materials about Islam and Quran in English, so I thought I would also ask for such a help. Could You please help me in my efforts? I would really appreciate it, I would love to spread the word of Islam so people have a better understanding about it and have less misconceptions about Islam.

Jazak Allahu Khayr for your help and keep up the good work Inshallah!

Salamoaleikum

Yours sincerely,

Adam Fister
