Human Rights Book

- Baibonn Sangid

- 10 Jan 2005

To

- me

Assallamu Alaykum,

Great to see your website and the number of other useful sites there. I am interested in acquiring book on Islamic concept of Human Rights.

I am currently crafting a module for Human Rights Training that we hope to conduct for our BangsaMoro brothers and Muslim reverts brothers who are frequently the object or the target of corrupt police, military and other law enforcers in the Philippines.

Just last Friday 7 January www.inq7.net or www.philstar.com 16 Muslims mostly Dawah workers were arrested on the pretext that said men and women were out to plot bomb black Nazarene processions in Quiapo. They were all untrue and some were released the next day.

I wanted to design the module in such a way that Islam and the Roman concept of Human Rights is integrated. In such a way it can be useful to both dawah, lay workers or paralegal workers.

Will that be possible? If so how much will it cost? Hope it won't cost us that much as we are not a big private organization.

Thanks for the reply and may Almighty Allah [swt] bless you and your family,

Sincerely,

Baibonn D. Sangid

Re: DREAMS

To

- me

Assalamalaykum Dr,

No, i'm from the corner of Slade Lane and Collingwood Rd. I don't know if you'll remember.

Anyway, my first dream:

I leave my bedroom and look down the lobby out the window and I see a BIG insect-like creature crawl across the outside. As I walk down the stairs I look at the front door and see the creature through the glass in the door frame and I ignore it and walk into the living room where two of my brothers are sat. When I go in, my mum walks in behind me and says, "There's something in my room." She walks out of the living room in front of me and I follow. As we walk out the door into the lobby, there is a slightly smaller creature inside on the wall and it begins to say something. As soon as it begins to say something I put my arms around my mum and begin reading the Ayatul-kursi.

My brother then woke me up because I was reading it out loud in the morning.

Now, my second dream:

I am walking through an arcade machine room (games room) with my cousin and younger brother. As we are leaving the room my brother tilts to one side and shouts in pain. As I walk towards him he begins to throw punches at something invisible and at the same time running away from it. So, I chase after him, when I get hold of him I put my arms around him and begin to read the Ayatul-Kursi whilst he is trying his best to shake me off. When I am half way through reading, my brother manages to push me off him and runs through a door towards some stairs. At the bottom of the stairs I grab hold of him and put my arms around him one more time and continue reading the Ayatul-Kursi. As soon as I finish reading it, my brother calms down and puts his hands down.

I then woke up.

I hope inshaAllah you will be able to help me. I have been advised by a friend to purchase a book on dreams by Abu Ameenah Bilal Philips. I look forward to hearing from you.

Assalamalaykum,

Usman.

PS. You can send me the electronic book.

RSSA Meeting 17th January

To

Dear Fellow,

Below is the billet of the next RSSA meeting. I do hope that you, and any guests you would like to invite, will be able to attend to hear such an informed speaker and to contribute to the debate on this highly controversial topic.

Yours sincerely

Jane Ridder-Patrick (secretary)

Royal Scottish Society of Arts

3rd Meeting of the 184th Session (2004-2005)

The Ethics of Stem Cell Research

Dr Donald Bruce
Society, Religion and Technology Project
Church of Scotland

In the Wolfson Suite, Ground Floor
Edinburgh University Library
George Square, Edinburgh
On Monday 17th January 2005, at 7pm

Human stem cells open up exciting medical possibilities to treat hitherto untreatable degenerative diseases by producing suitable replacement cells. At this early stage in the science, embryonic stem cells seem to be the most likely source of the widest range of cell types and thus of treatments, but they raise major ethical problems over the inherent ethical status of the embryo. For some, the early embryo is just a ball of cells with no formed human characteristics, justifying research for medical benefit. For others, all research on the embryo is unacceptable on principle because the embryo is as fully human in status as a baby.

Dr Donald Bruce has been Director of the Society, Religion and Technology Project of the Church of Scotland since 1992. He previously spent 15 years in chemistry research in nuclear energy and safety and risk assessment. He holds doctorates in chemistry and theology. The SRT Project was established in 1970 to address ethical and social issues arising from modern technology. He teaches ethics for biotechnology students, is much involved with public engagement and participation on science issues, and is a frequent writer and broadcaster.

The President, Dr Stuart Monro, will be in the Chair

Members of the Public are welcome to attend

LOLL Have a joyous Eid day and the rest of your year.

Your sister in Islam

Eid al-Adha

It is a road-map to success and a reminder of the standard of excellence, great devotions and triumph of high achievements. It charts the direction in the battle of life for those who does actually strive to do deeds and reach for their goal, their prize. The promised prize that no human being could imagine the joys kept hidden as reward for all that they did, await at the end of the road. The eye has seen not, nor the ear heard, nor does the heart of man ever conceive.

Abraham was certainly a model of faith for the people, obedient to Allah and upright. Allah pay back people who do good and this event is one of the proofs of Allah mercy thus indeed do doers of goods rewarded.

A great event when Abraham and his son Ishmael passed the trial successfully. We offer remembrance of Allah's blessings, celebrate His name and offer the 'eid salaah to give thanks for sending us guidance and map to tread through the life's path.

There should be no room for emotions which go against the commands and prohibitions of Allah. Eid teach us to trust that He shall not give us more than what we can bear. He will either shield us from suffering or will give us unfailing strength to bear it. Was it not said to "follow My Guidance, no fear shall be on them, neither shall they sorrow"? Certainly Allah knows best and was best witness when Ishmael said:

"O my father! Tie my hands and legs so that I do not struggle.
Put a blindfold over your eyes so that you do not have to see me die
And tighten your cloak so that my mother does not see my blood splattered on your clothes. Make your knife sharp so that you can do your job quickly. That way I will feel no pain."

Peace be upon Ibrahim. Indeed this was a clear trial.

Eid al-Adha is a light that shine our way near and far,

The love of Ibrahim for Allah was true, tested by fire to stay forever.
Devotion so endless, will always light the way.

It is a light that could shine the difficult ways in times of trials. We can do more than just lament the flaws of the Muslim Ummah, for a better world to live and make the word of Allah dominant in the world. If we can all sacrifice what we love most for Love of Allah as Ibrahim did to his son Ishmael. Only then we will know the power and wisdom of Eid al-Adha and deserve what Allah has promised, to grant succession and security after fear. If we can stand strong in the middle of trials and hardships, know that surely Allah help will find way to shine through.

This event also reminds us of one of the pillar of Islam, the hajj. It manifests a unique unity, dispelling all kinds of differences. Muslims from all corners of the world, wearing the same dress, respond to the call of Hajj in one voice and language: LABBAIK ALLA HUMMA LABBAIK (Here I am here I am O lord!).

Hajj is a great congress that gives an opportunity to Muslims all over the world to meet annually. The time, venue and even the invitation has been set by the One True God when Allah, the Almighty, said to Ibrahim:

"You call, and I will convey your call."

*"Invite all to the way of thy Lord with wisdom and beautiful preaching;
And consult with them in ways that are best and most gracious."*

(Al Qur'an, 16:125)

Happy moments, praise God. Difficult moments, seek

God.

Quiet moments, worship God. Painful moments, trust God.

Every moment..... thank God.

The Holy Prophet [S.A] has said: 'The worst lie is that a person claims to have seen a dream which, in fact, he has not seen.' [Muslim]

Dear Brother Umar

Whilst recently looking on the internet I came accross your website, Alhamdulillah.

I am an ex-pupil of yours and wish to apologise for stating that I had seen many Islamic dreams when in fact I had never seen any.

This was due to my selfishness of not wanting to concentrate on the subjects you were teaching me at the time (ie Maths and English) and the fact that I was a dirty little liar.

When I came accross the above Hadith I decided that I should admit my lies.

I sincerely hope you forgive me.

Assalam o alaikum,

Sir,

I have emailed u earlier also...

As i mentioned... i was out of station for month and a half.. now i m back from the holidays...

Hope u have remembered!!!!

well... this time
i saw a dream...

but I m bit confused about something in it...

I saw my self on the Mazar of Piya Haji Ali (India). I was there and there were some women... lying on the bed just near the Grave... n those were the women who are caught by the Jinss. Then one of the women gave me a Diary and the nose of the women was like a trunk of an elephant... and while giving it she instructed me... that this Diary will help me alot... i gave that Diary to my twin sister she kept it in a cupboard, n
after some time my elder sister bought it for me.. as soon as i get the diary.. i get back to the Mazar... and near the Grave of Piya Haji Ali..
there is one water pond... and i blew a candle(Diya) in it.And lilly flowers(Blossomed pink colored) were also there n the pond."

well i dont know what does it mean.. but i will be looking forward for your earl;iest reply.

Jazak Allah

regards,

Sobia Khan

'PRAYERS IN ISLAM' . MASHA'ALLAH, I'VE HAD 28 REQUESTS IN 16 DAYS FOR IT! I THINK I SENT YOU A COPY.

THE PROPHET [PBUH] SAID THAT, WHEN YOU
ARE NOT SURE WHAT COURSE OF ACTION TO TAKE IN A MATTER, YOU SHOULD DO
WHAT YOUR CONSCIENCE SUGGESTS - WHAT YOUR RUH FEELS HAPPIEST WITH. I HOPE THIS ADVICE CONCLUDES ANY HELP I CAN GIVE YOU IN THE MATTER.

IF I HAVE NOT SENT YOU 'PRAYERS IN ISLAM', PLEASE LET ME KNOW AND I WILL SEND

Assalam o alaikum, Thanks for your reply. I have no problem of beingsecond wife.

I really dontknow wheteher my parents will accept thissituation or not..I m quite for last 3 1/2 years, and just 2 monthsback i told my sister abouthis marrige. The reason for my quiteness...is my believe in Allah... I trustHim blindly, and the second reason ismy dreams. Allah has always given mesome signs through

it. But whatnext... i really dont know. I know this very well that he is stillinterested in marrying me.

and always saying" that he will marry me, otherwise, he'll never marry again". He has been separated from his wife quite a long time ago. The actual problem is... I don't want to hurt anybody... whether in my family or in his family. I don't know how my parents going to react about his marriage stuff... but his father is against it. He wants him to continue with the first wife. At one moment he was ready.. in fact his sister spoke to my mom also regarding our relationship, but did not mention about his marriage because I stopped him to do so.... I wanted him to come over and face the situation. Did I do anything wrong??? I also told him.. if his parents are not ready, we should quit our relationship, because as I said earlier I don't want to hurt anyone.
But it didn't work out. I know my situation is very critical and I have myself chosen this way, I trust Allah and His Nabi Karim (SWS) a lot but socially, I'm facing problems because of this relationship and some related to this. I have never discussed anything with anyone except one... she is my twin sister and she knows in and out of me... but there are few things which I haven't mentioned to her... as she is far in Pakistan and I'm in Dubai.
I even don't want to discuss my situation with anyone else... because no one believes me... they are still suspicious that whether he exists or not. You are Mashallah very experienced and I look you as a guide. I want you totell me anything orsomehing in the light of Quran and
